

3:55 - Jamie Mariel

I started running in 2009 when a coworker suggested I try running a marathon. My first race was Twin Cities Marathon, and after that I knew I found my new passion! Since then, I have run over 30 marathons and ultra-marathons. Running is my way of relaxing and escaping the world for a short period of time every day. I enjoy racing and pacing because I get to meet new people who share the same passion as me.